Luverne Lewis of Hawley has been named editor-in-chief of the 1934-35 MISTIC, succeeding Edward Eastman of Moorhead, it was announced today by Mr. Murray, adviser of publications. At the same time Arnold Kittleson of Louisburg was named business manager of publications to succeed Gordon Hanson. Mr. Kittleson's duties will likewise begin next fall.

In the tryouts held during recent weeks, it was decided after an orientation period that the two advertising managers for next year, William Wallace of Hawley and Donald Weston of Waubun, would be assigned to the MISTIC and the 1935 Praeceptor respectively, and that Walter Severson, Daventport, N. D., would be circulation manager of the MISTIC.

Eastman has been named managing editor of the 1935 Praeceptor to succeed William Stevenson. The annual next year will be headed by Signe Olson, chosen at the time of the Commission election.

Lewis, new editor of the MISTIC, has held the position of make-up editor this year, and Kittleson, that of news editor, and assistant in the business department since the resignation of Charles Jahr, who was succeeded by Hanson.

Dr. W. E. Peik Speaks To Campus Groups

"Teacher And Social Problems" Is Subject Of Address At Wednesday's Chapel

"The Teacher and Social Problems" was the subject of the address by Dr. W. E. Peik, from the University of Minnesota, College of Education, at last Wednesday's Chapel hour.

Dr. Peik, presented interesting illustrations of the insidious business practices which are undermining our democracy. He said, "These can only be met through our teachers, who, knowing the situations, can educate their pupils to meet them."

Continuing, Mr. Peik stated, "There is a new challenge to teachers today which we fail to recognize because of every day problems confronting us."

In addition to speaking at Chapel, Dr. Peik also spoke at a luncheon meeting of the A. A. U. P., at the P. T. A. meeting at the Training School in the evening, and later at a joint meeting of the M. S. T. C. and A. C. chapters of the A. A. U. P. held in Ingleside.

Mantoux Tests Are To Be Given Here Monday

Dr. Flancher Of Sand Beach Sanatorium Will Give Tuberculosis Test

Dr. Flancher of the Sand Beach Sanatorium at Lake Park will be on the Campus to administer the Mantoux tuberculosis tests Monday, March 19. The test, which takes less than one minute to give if the blanks for recording have been made out in advance, is made by applying a drop of liquid called tuberculin in the upper surface of the skin, usually of the forearm.

Clay county has agreed not to employ any teachers who have not had the test. It is probable that other counties will take the same action and College officials are anxious that students shall not be handicapped by lack of the test in applying for positions.

South Dakota State College Band To Be Here Next Thursday

Group To Give Concert In Weld Hall Under Direction Of Carl Christensen

Opening the College concert season, the South Dakota State college band from Brookings, South Dakota, under the direction of Lieutenant-Colonel Carl Christensen, will appear in concert in Weld Hall auditorium, next Thursday, March 22, at 8 o'clock. This program is an exchange between that musical organization and the M.S.T.C. Chapel Choir and concert band.

Mr. Christensen is well known to the followers of music throughout the state of South Dakota and southern Minnesota, having served in the capacity of director of the music department of South Dakota State since 1906. He has handled many musical organizations of that school, and according to word received here, he considers this present organization to be his best.

The band, forty strong, is playing only in five cities this year. In the thirty-two years of existence, however, the band has played in every city and town of any size in South Dakota and southern Minnesota. This venture northward is the first of its kind for them as a concert group, although they do come as a marching band to the North Dakota State college during the football season.

As this is an exchange concert, the Chapel Choir and Dragon Band will travel to Brookings the latter part of April in return for Thursday's performance. The members of the Dragon Band will act as host to the South Dakotans Thursday, attending the concert in uniform and providing entertainment for them afterward.

Featured on the program will be four soloists: Robert Bartell, trumpet; Elwood Seim, xylophone; Rollin Silfies, saxophone; and David Hume, piccolo.

The complete program is as follows: Symphonic march, "Willow Grove," Sorrentino; Overture, "Mignon," Thomas; Trumpet solo, "Fantasia Scintillata," Perkins, by Robert Bartell; "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 6," Liszt; Piccolo solo, "Polka Caprice," Cox, by David Hume; Saxophone solo, "Souvenir de Valence," Blegier, by Rollin Silfies; "Operatic Masterpieces," Safranek; Xylophone solo, "The Old Fiddler," Thompson, by Elwood Seim; Humorous Travesty, "Reuben and Rachel," Barnes; and "Star Spangled Banner."

Geography Council Will Show Africa Film Today

The Geography Council is sponsoring the 8-reel film, "Simba," in Weld Hall today, at 4:00 o'clock and at 7:30. These pictures were photographed by the noted Martin Johnson and his wife in the jungles of Africa. Mr. Schwendeman, head of the geography department, says, "It is the best film ever produced as far as Africa is concerned." The price for admittance has been made as low as possible, five cents, in order that everyone may have the opportunity of seeing it.

OPEN-STACKS

How many students of the College fully realize what our Library is doing for us? Or how many appreciate its services? It is not generally known that our College Library is one of the few of its kind which operate under an open-stack system. Most of our large college libraries are closed to freshmen and sophomores, but are accessible only by the librarian. Upper-classmen, juniors and seniors, may obtain entrance only by use of permits. Many of the other teachers colleges of our state operate under such a system.

It is not difficult to see the advantage to the student of the open-stack plan. Here we are privileged to browse in the Library at our pleasure and make a survey of library material, taking from it those works which interest us.

But there is a price to pay for this big advantage. All too often students take advantage of the trust placed in them and fail to return books which they took out without going through the formality of having them checked. It is unfortunate that a number of books disappear from our Library in this manner. Perhaps it would be a good plan to take to heart the suggestion made by one of our faculty members in answer to the MiSTiC's questionnaire recently, to "practice a little school spirit in GIVING as well as RECEIVING." In return for our browsing privileges and for the trust placed in us, let's give our pledge of true cooperation to our fine College Library.

A COLLEGE CONTRIBUTION

"The American college has taught me to see a world that is bright and glorious though plunged into economic depression. . . ." Such is the experience of W. M. Odslerhof of Hamilton, Michigan.

Isn't it true as the writer says, "There are times when the best remedy for the vicissitudes of life is by removal into the pleasant world of the imagination. It is then that my knowledge of the arts gives me best service." The student has been introduced to poets, whose lofty ideas are an inspiration, to dramatists and novelists, who carry him away to a world of make-believe and fancy. Education has helped the college student to find these men and he has learned that their works can be a source of inspiration and guidance. Great men of history and philosophy have come to life and through their eyes he has been made to see things in a new light.

In this day of depression one is so prone to measure values in dollars and cents, and lose sight of values that cannot be thus measured. More than money can buy is offered to every student by the American college.

From The Editor's Semicircle

The inclusion of the South Dakota State College band on our program of entertainment is a feather in the hat of those in charge of music activities.

From the way the weather felt after the debaters left Tuesday morning, they must have taken all the hot air with them.

Why do March winds have to be that way?

The completion of the men's basketball tournament has ended the most extensive men's intramural project yet attempted. Can it be extended to kitten ball?

After hearing the "Lotus Case" dramatized, one can easily see that the International Relations Club will not lack silver-tongued orators at the Model League at St. Catherine's this spring.

Another sign of spring sorority rushing.

Well, despite my repeated attempts to retire into oblivion . . . due to the appeals of my many (?) admirers (?) . . . I herewith present another Dragnet. . . It must be that the multitude prefers dry humor, old jokes, and plain nonsense. . . The Dragnet did make a good showing in the recent MiSTiC questionnaire due to my strenuous work in marking slips as favoring it. . . Enough personal comment! . . . Now that the International Relations Club has presented its famous international law case, "The Lotus Case," one is tempted to remark that before its presentation they reminded us of the following quotation a la Tennyson: "The wild-eyed, melancholy lotus-casers." . . .

And now that the Student Commission has been duly installed and we find that they have already had a couple of meetings . . . we predict a successful year for them. . . From the looks of the financial statement it seems that the Depression didn't have such an influence on the money of our Commission. . . By the way, the Geography Council is sponsoring a movie tonight. . . "Simba" is the name and it only costs one nickel . . . why not take your best girl and go? . . . that will be an easy way to entertain her. . .

But if I were you, I'd ask her before 7:30 tonight. . . It seems that the women have been offended by a recent Mildew Meandering in the MiSTiC. . . Informal sorority rushing begins this weekend . . . and then vacation soon. . . Wonder what the Easter Bunny will bring Jack Johnston? . . . hope it's a new book of jokes and tricks to be used in amusing the bunch in the Library. . .

What with marks given out so early and the Honor Roll published last week, I think many would have enjoyed a vacation right then . . . maybe needed one to recuperate from the severe shock. . . And then those few lonely days when Spring seemed to be here . . . all the white trousers come out of the closets . . . a few more pairs of white shoes appeared . . . and everyone got the urge to go strolling (even Oddie and Signe). . . But, they all were fooled and here we are again suffering from chills and wondering how the Eskimeaux can possibly endure it. . .

And, have you noticed the number of new kids? . . . and two more Michiganders! . . . Maybe they are merely fulfilling Horace Greeley's famous, "Go west, young man!" . . . See that the spring football season will be informally opened by the Eps and the Howls (pardon, Owls) in their basketball classic. . .

Don't miss it and be sure to come early to avoid being killed in the stampede for places to sit. . . Also see that the Hermes emerged as victors in the intra-mural basketball contest. . . What is this world coming to when even our fair and refined co-eds go "bowery" like they did at the All-Women's Party last Friday? . . . Well, the affairs of the world weigh heavy on my shoulders. . . I must off to do some lesson plans so I can aptly guide the younger generation so they will grow up, become college students, and have such an appreciation of good literature that they will want to read the Dragnet.

Three Books Of Letters Are Added To Library

Four New Oxford University Press Books Are Received

This week it seems that there are only a few books to talk about, but have you taken advantage of the new books on the table? If you have a few minutes to spare, it will more than repay you to browse around.

Four new Oxford University Press books caught my eye. The first is Howard Foster Loury's book "The Letters of Matthew Arnold to Arthur Hugh Clough;" the second, "The Letters of Mrs. Gaskell and Charles Elliot Norton, 1855-1865;" the third, "A Consideration of Thackeray," George Saintsbury; and the fourth, "Mrs. Carlyle to John Neuberger, 1848-1862." Thomas Lodge

"Thomas Lodge and Other Elizabethans," by Charles Sisson, Mark Eccles, and Deborah Jones, is a story of the careers of a group of his contemporaries.

Dragon Dreams

(By Margaret Evje)

I continue to write this column twelve hours after the MiSTiC deadline; for, having gone collegiate, I, too, leave my bed unmade and rush to class, serenely content to "get by." Thus, as I go, observing no brown creepers or silent owls half-hid in the Campus trees, ignoring the horned lark in the meadow and the pigeon that coos at my window, and looking at the sunset only when I have to describe it, I shove beauty in the dust. But whenever I get spring fever, I brush the dust off and say, "The man who first said that opportunity knocked but once was a fool; for the opportunity to be happy knocks until it is forced away with broken knuckles."

We are like those black, oil-cloth cats that sit on dormitory beds and meow when someone tips them over; for we also perch upon a dog-eared movie magazine and stare unseeing at whoever stuffed and set us there. And whenever someone asks us to, we bow complacently and recite our one conciliating "meow." But if no one, approaching in the spirit of encouragement, offers his assistance, then, contributing no meowing to the world, we sit comfortably astride our perch and let the rest of the world look at

The other day a strong March wind came through my window and nearly blew me out of bed; and, ironically, I murmured to myself, "This is, indeed, the best possible of worlds." And it is; but we are not the best possible of people; for had I been wise I could, by closing my window, have enjoyed the sound of that wind.

A short time ago, one wise and seasoned teacher, while reading Dragon Dreams, remarked, "Twenty years from now that girl will not believe that all life's problems right themselves." Twenty years from now, she will not, we hope, need to depend upon a problem's tendency to solve itself. She should then know how to right herself.

Under the CWA, I am working two hours a day for my board and room, whereas, not long before, I was working six hours a day for less. The difference is obvious but the explanation is not. Therefore, I am tempted to ask: If, while a student, I can, through government control, earn a living on one-third to one-half of the average amount of work, why can I not, later, as a citizen, do the same?

Way Back When—

Following the example set in last week's issue, we continue to quote literary contributions of our predecessors of a decade ago.

For instance, here's a choice example of 1924 lyric poetry:

Spring Term Theme Song
We are glad that for education,
we over which books they pore,
we study enough to make the grade,
and not an atom more, (a theory which has been discarded at the present—pardon the interruption.)

Copying, bluffing and stalling, (weren't they immoral?)
Onward through school we go;
We love to stop beneath a moonlit sky
Or take in a Fargo show.

The midnite oil is all a fake,
And Lambada Sig is the same;
A jolly good time is the trail we'll make
On the shifting sands of fame.

Compare Chapel Then And Now
Program for Tuesday: The Men's Glee Club will sing "Oh, Will There Be Any Bars In My Town." Now they're singing "We'll All Be Wrecks In '49."

Below is the revival of the "Ode To Insomnia," or "High Spots In The Life of Childe Harold." Poore Kidde! Little Harold went to sleep
In an iron bed.
He really died before he work,
But doesn't know he's dead.

Does This One Remind You Of Dragon Dreams?
As I was walking up our stair
I met a man who wasn't there;
I saw him there again today,
My God, I wish he'd go away!

WHY, YOU NASTY MEN

Where do these representatives of splendid manhood derive so much ambition at 10:50 o'clock on Wednesdays? Is it the energy they gather from a good hour's sleep, or are they inspired by the speaker? Judging by the closed eyes and drooping heads during the programs, they gather no great desire to forge ahead from any attentive listening to the lectures.

Why, oh why, must the poor, frail co-eds be crushed and mangled simply because of a mad desire on the part of some of the student body to get to the next class. Surely there is no great rush because of a wish to study; therefore, why speed? It's a splendid quality to possess on the athletic field, but it holds no place in emerging from school.

Henceforth, let's make our graceful exits with the dignity and delicacy that a staid group of college students should.

It is estimated that the students at Washington and Lee University spend almost as much of their money on entertainment as they do on schooling.

Spring Sports Program Inaugurated By Track And Football Practice

Spring Football To Continue For Five Weeks; Track Prospects Bright

With the Dragon basketball campaign brought to a conclusion with a spectacular 35-33 victory over Concordia two weeks ago, the extensive program of spring sports intended to include all men of the College awaits only favorable weather to be brought into full play.

Spring football will be conducted in much the same manner as last year with five weeks of practice being held, including four outdoor sessions a week. At the close of the spring campaign, the varsity squad will play the annual game against the graduating Seniors, scrubs, and faculty.

Track Practice
Track practice has been in progress for some time with several of the outstanding track prospects working out in the gymnasium. Dates have not been set as yet for the traditional triangular track meet at Valley City in which the Dragon tracksters will participate. The Minnesota Teachers College Conference track meet will be held at the University of Minnesota late in the season, and will find the Dragon team competing for the championship along with the other conference teams.

Jim McLearn, who holds the 100-yard dash official state high school record with a time of 9.9 seconds, is perhaps Coach Nemzek's outstanding performer at the present time. He also will be used in the 220-yard dash and the relay team. There is a possibility of a good relay team this year with Hollister, a veteran speedster from last year, coupled with McLearn and Ray Lundberg, a Freshman, who has an enviable high school record, along with several other Freshmen possibilities who will battle for the fourth position on this team.

Tennis will occupy the attention of a considerable group of students, if court facilities adequate to play on will be provided. It is hoped that the courts will be repaired so that the outstanding tennis talent here at the College will be able to compete with other teams in tournament play.

Because other colleges nearby do not have varsity baseball teams, the Dragon baseball program will consist largely of intra-mural activity with the possibility of a few match games with amateur clubs.

Schneider Is Elected To Head The Alpha Epsilons

Vincent Schneider, Davenport, N. D., was elected president of the Alpha Epsilon fraternity for next year, succeeding Carl Maedl, at the meeting of the fraternity last Wednesday evening. Other officers elected include: Luverne Lewis, vice president; William Wallace, treasurer; Ronald Gilbert, corresponding secretary; Lawrence Peterson, senior member; Hugh Price, keeper of the records; Dudley Lockrem, secretary; and Thomas Prickett, sergeant-at-arms.

Captains Appointed For Women's Sports

Tennis, Archery, Baseball, Horseshoe Included On Spring Program

Plans are now under way for various spring sports for girls. These sports are tennis, archery, baseball and horseshoe. Different captains have been appointed for each event. Kathryn Feyereisen is managing tennis; Betty Hoag, archery; and Ann Meyers, baseball.

Last Monday tryouts were held in the gym for the four best pitchers. Six girls tried out. The four girls chosen were Jewel Ydstie, Ann Meyers, Fran Olson, and Naomi Vinette. These girls will act as captains of the baseball teams to be chosen in the near future. Three men, Mattson, Boyd and Bjerkness, acted as judges. They judged on form, speed and accuracy.

Edlund, Vinette Leading In Race For Tank Medals

Joe Edlund is the leader in points in competition for the Ivan Prestegard Memorial Swimming medal to be given in May, with a total of twenty six points. Bud Marquardt and Jimmy Smith are not far behind, however, Marquardt having twenty-five points and Smith twenty-four. Other scores are: Hollister, six; Harris, five; Matthew, three; and Monson and Burke, one each.

Among the women's events, Naomi Vinette has a big lead with thirty points. Margaret Johnson and June Randklev are tied for second with eight points apiece; Wimmer has three and Colehour, one.

The next swimming meet is to be Friday, March 23, at 4:00 p. m. This will be the third tank meet in competition for the Prestegard medals.

Hermes Down Apollos In Championship Tilt

23-18 Victory Assures Hermes Of Championship Of Men's Intramural League

Running up a 12-5 lead in the first half, the Messengers of Hermes captured the intramural basketball championship from the Apollos in a hard-fought game played Tuesday afternoon. The Hermes had previously won the second half title of the split season schedule, while the Apollos had emerged victorious in the first half of the season's play.

No score had been made at the end of the first quarter, but with the resumption of play, Edlund scored three times and Lokken twice while Harris was sinking two baskets for the Apollos. The two teams played on even terms throughout the second half, with the Hermes content to protect their lead.

Joe Edlund, with five field goals, and Cliff Lokken, who scored three times and played a stellar defensive game, were the outstanding stars for the Hermes, while Eugene Harris, with three baskets, led the attack of the Apollos.

The summary:

Faculty Are Losers In Vol-Bask Contest

Lose By Half-Point In Battle With Fergus Falls Faculty Members

A sturdy group of hard-fighting, fast-talking faculty members fell before the onslaughts of the Fergus Falls High School faculty in a Vol-Bask game last Saturday, by the exceedingly narrow margin of 37 to 36 1/2. Last year the College faculty defeated this same crew 66-40.

The faculty team, composed of Messrs. Schwendeman, Archer, Lura, Murray, Gilpin and Booher, failed to win because of a lack of a well-balanced aggregation — they lacked a mathematician to devise a suitable scoring system.

A lead of five and one-half points in volley ball evaporated in the period of basketball which followed, the latter tilt ending 19-13. Where the one-half point comes in is a thing which the scribe was unable to interpret from the incoherent mutterings of one of the faculty. However, the Fergus Falls team must be congratulated on its efficient mathematics department, to which much of the credit for the victory must be given.
